

A rat snake, one of the most common snakes in North Carolina. There are two species of rat snake found throughout the entire state, the Eastern Rat Snake (Pantherophis alleghaniensis) and the Gray Rat Snake (Pantherophis spiloides). They can get quite large, but are completely harmless, and helpful for rodent control.