

Northern Black Racer, also nonvenomous. Scientific name is Coluber constrictor constrictor. A trick I use to differentiate between racers and rat snakes is their "angry eyebrows" caused by enhanced supraorbital scales. The black racer is native to all of North Carolina.