

Copperhead (Agkistrodon contortrix). Venomous. The most common venomous snake found in North Carolina, native to everywhere in the state. Copperheads are pit vipers, with the vertical slot pupils and triangle shaped head. Their colors can vary from a brighter orange to a more muted tan, but once you're familiar with their pattern you won't mistake them for anything else. Young