

Eastern Coachwhip (Masticophis flagellum). Nonvenomous. Colors vary a lot within the species, but they tend to have a black head that fades to a reddish or brown tail. Only native to southeastern North Carolina.